Nici Workman, partner in the Vorys Columbus office, was selected as one of Columbus Business First's 2019 40 Under 40 Nominees. According to the newspaper, honorees are "up-and-comers making an impact in the professional world and giving back to their communities." This year, the 40 honorees were selected from a pool of 378 nominees.

Workman, who is also the co-chair of the firm's finance practice, represents national and regional banks and public company and other large corporate borrowers in a wide range of financing transactions including syndicated and multi-currency credit facilities, asset-based lending facilities, acquisition financings, mezzanine financings, mortgage warehousing facilities, securitizations and derivatives transactions.

Outside of her legal practice, Workman holds a number of important leadership roles. She chairs the Vorys Women's Network, serves on two firm committees (the Diversity & Inclusion and Management Committees), helps plan citywide legal industry gender equity programming, serves on the board of Ruling our Experiences (ROX), is the President-Elect of Capital University's Alumni Advisory Board, and has served as a mentor to female lawyers, in their first year of practice, for the past six years.
