Tony Venturino, a partner in the IP group in the Washington, D.C. office, was included in the 2024 edition of the IAM Strategy 300. He was ranked for Chemicals, Legal, Materials and Pharmaceuticals/life sciences.

According to IAM, the IAM Strategy 300: The World's Leading IP Strategists identified the "individuals who are leading the way in the development and implementation of strategies that maximize the value of IP portfolios." IAM Strategy 300 honorees had to be nominated by three unsolicited sources outside of their law firm to be considered for inclusion in the publication.

Venturino has prepared numerous U.S. and PCT patent applications, trademark applications and opinions. He has also participated in major intellectual property litigation, post grant proceedings at the US Patent Office, as well as oppositions and cancellations at the US Trademark Office. Venturino is responsible for complex activities including negotiating and drafting agreements, conducting due diligence for multi-million dollar technology acquisitions and counseling senior management on intellectual property issues. He has also written a large number of patent applications for building products, surfactants, and secondary oil recovery.
