

Publications

How Artificial Intelligence Is Revolutionizing the Legal Practice

Related Services

Litigation

AUTHORED ARTICLE | 10.1.2016

Litigation

Paige Kohn, an associate in the Columbus office, authored an article for Litigation (The American Bar Association's Journal of the Section of Litigation) titled "How Artificial Intelligence Is Revolutionizing the Legal Practice."

According to the article, artificial intelligence (AI), or the ability of a computer to complete intelligent tasks normally performed by people, has been a trending topic in the law lately. For this article, Kohn interviewed various thought leaders in the legal industry to determine the state of the art on AI usage and its potential for use in litigation.

To read the article, click here. (Subscription required).