Chris has been handling subrogation matters for over 30 years. He is heavily involved in the industry and has a particular focus on fire-related matters.

OVERVIEW

Chris Konzelmann is a senior partner in the Subrogation Department where he started his legal career in 1990. He often serves as lead counsel in significant subrogation matters throughout the United States with a special emphasis on fire related losses.

Chris is an active member of the National Association of Subrogation Professionals and a regular presenter at both the Annual and Spring Conferences. He Co-Chaired the March 2019 conference in Rancho Mirage, California and was honored to receive the Spirit of NASP Award at the October 2019 conference in National Harbor, Maryland.

Chris is also an active member of the International Association of Arson Investigators where he is a Certified Instructor. He is also the Chairman of the Insurance Advisory Committee, the link between the Organization and the insurance industry. Chris is an attorney instructor for the Expert Witness Courtroom Testimony program and has developed two-eight hour educational programs, "Investigating and Litigating Fire Losses for Subrogating Insurers" and "Giving Stronger Deposition and Trial Testimony," which he presents across the Country.

RECOGNITION AND INVOLVEMENT

In 2006, while practicing law full-time, Chris attended the Mercer County Fire Academy in Lawrenceville, New Jersey and became a state certified interior structural firefighter. He continued his fire service education and became a certified fire officer and fire instructor. Chris is currently a Captain in the Mooretown Fire Department in Burlington County, New Jersey and responds to approximately 200 calls for service each year.
