Victor has extensive experience litigating commercial and catastrophic loss matters involving economic damages and personal injury damage often with potential exposure in the millions of dollars

OVERVIEW

Victor Zarrilli has extensive experience litigating commercial litigation and catastrophic loss matters involving economic damages and personal injury damages through multiple state and federal jurisdictions. Victor's complex trial practice includes breach of contract, product liability, construction site liability, workplace safety, commercial premises liability, dram shop liability, design professional liability and commercial contract disputes. His practice frequently involves the defense of insured and self-insured local, national and multi-national companies facing potential exposure in the millions of dollars for injuries ranging from death, traumatic brain injury, permanent physical injuries, loss of business value, property loss and general commercial damages.

Victor has considerable experience litigating all aspects of contractual disputes, including implied covenants, contractual indemnification and additional insured claims. He also has extensive knowledge and experience litigating complex insurance coverage disputes involving general liability, business automobile and professional liability insurance policies in state and federal courts. Victor's wealth of knowledge and experience in litigation risk-shifting and risk-sharing opportunities is an important tool and of great benefit to his clients.

Victor also has significant experience litigating employment-related disputes involving age, gender, race and disability discrimination, non-compete and restrictive covenants and employment regulatory matters involving state and federal agencies. His employment litigation practice involves the defense of insured and self-insured clients ranging from local business to national corporations, as well as the representation of wrongfully terminated clients.
