

White and Williams Relaunches The Subrogation Strategist Blog

Philadelphia, PA
1.15.25

PRACTICE AREAS

Subrogation

White and Williams is proud to announce the relaunch of the Subrogation Strategist blog. The Subrogation Strategist, which first launched in 2015, provides commentary, insight and case law updates on subrogation-related topics.

The Subrogation Strategist publishes numerous articles per year to highlight recent subrogation cases and trends throughout the country. By monitoring subrogation-related issues that arise, the Subrogation Department is able to quickly inform clients of potential trends affecting subrogation.

White and Williams' Subrogation Department is one of the longest-standing and continuous practices in the nation. It utilizes a vast network of screened experts and consultants in diverse matters, routinely receiving new referrals in all fifty states.

To receive updates on the most recent changes in the Subrogation industry, read The Subrogation Strategist blog.