

Principal Anazette Ray Spoke on Williams College Panel on “How to Build a City”

01.23.2024

Zetlin & De Chiara Principal, Anazette Ray, spoke on a panel titled “How to Build a City,” as part of a Williams College alumni program on January 23, 2024. The career panel aimed to inspire a new generation of future urbanists, builders and policy makers to reshape our cities in response to the challenges of our day, from affordable housing, to balance competing demands on public spaces, to retrofit our buildings to reduce dependence on fossil fuels, to investments in public infrastructure, and new strategies to mitigate the effects of climate change, among others.
