

Mold Claims Plague a Multi-Use High-Rise Structure in South Florida

We represented the design team against claims in excess of $26 million related to mold found in a multi-use high-rise building in South Florida. The multi-year litigation focused heavily on technical experts. Our knowledge of the construction process helped us to uncover facts that proved to be pivotal in defending our clients.

PRACTICE AREAS

Litigation & Alternative Dispute Resolution