

Michael De Chiara Moderates ENR's Healthcare Construction Conference

New York

Michael De Chiara will serve as a moderator at ENR's "The Future of Healthcare Construction" conference on February 26 at McGraw Hill Financial Global Headquarters.

Michael's panel "Healthcare Innovation in the New York Region" will focus on recent developments and innovations in the New York Region's healthcare industry. Panelists will provide insights on current projects, healthcare trends, new healthcare technology and designs, and what the future holds for healthcare construction. Panelists will include:

- Mitch Green, Vice President, Pre-Construction, Tishman Construction Corporation
- Rich Lanzarone, Project Executive, Turner Healthcare
- Marsha Powell, Director of Engineering Services, NYC Health and Hospitals Corporation
- Barry Rabner, President and CEO, Princeton Healthcare System
- Salley Whitman, Co-Lead, Executive Director, NXT Health

The conference will explore issues currently shaping healthcare construction markets. Panelists will examine new opportunities for contractors, subcontractors, and design and engineering firms, and the effects of shifting medical policies and practices on the construction industry.

For more information about the conference and to register, you can access the event website here.
