

Will Nonunion Construction Conquer the Commercial Market Next?

To compete with nonunion labor, union construction companies are increasingly making concessions. The problem, according to some, is that those cost savings are getting stuck at the subcontractor level and not trickling down to the project owners.

ATTORNEYS

Michael K. De Chiara